

<https://complextraits.centre.mcgill.ca/job-opportunities/position-1/>

Positions title

Description

Casual Research Assistant position under the supervision of Dr. Codruta Ignea

Department of Bioengineering, Faculty of Engineering

Position Summary:

- To operate and perform maintenance of the laboratory equipment.
- To operate and perform maintenance of the GC-MS instruments
- To establish GC-MS methods for analysis of different classes of compounds
- To perform analysis of relevant standard compounds
- To develop calibration curves for compound identification based on literature and in house standard compound analysis.
- To refresh existing biological material, such as DNA constructs and yeast samples for further preparation of control extracts for calibration of the GC-MS instrument
- To prepare yeast extracts of selected samples for identification of different type of compounds by GC-MS
- To prepare and organize lab orders of consumables and other materials required for operation of lab equipment.
- To set up routine protocols for operation and safety procedure related to lab equipment.

Qualifications:

- Graduated from BEng in Bioengineering
- Knowledge and interest in Synthetic Biology and Metabolic Engineering.

Responsibilities

What to do in this position

Hiring organization

McGill Genomic Department

Employment Type

Full-time

Beginning of employment

Start date July 1st 2021

Duration of employment

12 months

Industry

Bioinformatics

Job Location

1111 Rue McGill, H3A-0A5,
Montreal, Canada

Working Hours

9-5pm

Base Salary

$ 25$ - $ 35

Date posted

April 19, 2021

Valid through

30.04.2021